If you agree that excavation bids should be based on quantity estimates, the next step should be obvious. Every estimate must start by figuring the quantity of soil to be moved. I recommend you begin any project estimate, no matter how large or small, by divid - ing the excavation into two categories: general quantities and special quantities.

Swell factor rule of thumb from my 20 year old excavation estimating handbook is 1.7 from bank to loose asphalt. It results as well from the inability to dump the irregular shapes that the asphalt will turn into when dumping it. In other words it takes up a lot of room in the dump but not weight necessarily.
